

N Delegating with Purpose

An invitation to a leadership webinar!

Delegation is a critical skill for leaders today's "do more with less" business environment. Fewer resources, changing motivations, virtual team members and global workforces are just a few of the challenges leaders face as they attempt to meet ever-increasing workplace demands. In this webinar, leaders learn the skills they need to address these challenges, gain the commitment of team members, develop individual skills and abilities and enhance the overall capability and capacity of their teams.

Consider this question for attending this webinar:

Are you interested in learning how to identify the tasks you need to delegate, select the most appropriate individuals, assess capabilities and commitment and plan the delegation discussion?

If your answer was “yes”, then this education will be helpful to you!

Who should attend?

Novant Health leaders.

Webinar date and time

Monday, February 1, 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Objectives

After successful completion, you will be able to:

- Achieve key business results by leveraging the entire team's abilities
- Develop the team's capabilities and capacity through developmental delegations
- Delegate with increased confidence

Register by browsing in I-Learn for: CEL0014 Delegating with Purpose. After registering, you will receive a confirmation email with further details.