

N ■ Engaging and ■ Retaining Talent

Invitation for leadership training!

This instructor-led session will enable leaders to determine which motivational factors are affecting their team members and develop an action plan to build group and individual motivation since motivation is closely correlated to team member productivity and retention. There are three factors that affect the motivation of team members: focused work, interpersonal support and individual value.

Are you ever confronted with any of these issues?

- Is your department suffering from low productivity and morale?
- How equipped are you to recognize motivational issues and address the challenges that come with them?
- Can you distinguish motivational issues from performance and training problems?

If any of the above questions are applicable in your team, then this training will be helpful to you as a leader!

Who should attend?

All Novant Health leaders are invited. (Note: this session was formerly titled, "IM: Motivating Others")

Class date, time, and location

Wednesday, June 7, 1 to 5 p.m.

Novant Health Presbyterian Medical Center
Multipurpose room
200 Hawthorne Lane
Charlotte, NC 28204

Register through I-Learn by browsing for: z0514 Engaging and Retaining Talent. After registering, you will receive a confirmation email with further details.

Objectives

After successful completion, you will be able to:

- Create an environment that allows team members and work groups to achieve their full potential.
- Improve work group results by helping people sustain their motivation.
- Spark high levels of sustained energy to individuals and work groups.

ANCC credit

3.75 contact hours

Novant Health Nursing Professional Development is an approved provider of continuing nursing education by the North Carolina Nurses Association, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.