

N Servant Leadership Principles

An invitation to leadership education!

This class explores the top 10 characteristics of effective servant leaders. You will learn that becoming a servant leader is a lifelong journey and is based upon care, concern and a genuine desire to help others. Servant leaders represent the highest form of leadership by bringing out the leader in other people through a process called shared power. You only need a desire to help others and an open mind and heart.

Consider these questions for attending this class:

- Are you interested in beginning a journey of self exploration to becoming the most effective and inspiring leader you can be?
- Are you interested in practical tools you can start using immediately to become a more committed leader?
- Are you interested in making your place to work remarkable for your team members and yourself?

If your answer was “yes” to any of the above, then this education will be helpful to you!

Who should attend?

This class is open to all Novant Health leaders. Attendees are required to follow the Novant Health professional image policy for class admittance.

Class location, date and time

Tuesday, September 22, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

This course has been converted to a virtual format due to the COVID-19 situation. Please enroll in the class and you will be contacted with further instructions.

Objectives

After successful completion, you will be able to:

- Describe the concept of servant leadership
- Explain the benefits of a servant leader approach and its relationship to our mission, vision, and values
- Explore the top 10 traits of servant leadership and map to the Novant Health leader

Register by browsing in I-Learn for: z1298 Servant Leadership Principles. After registering, you will receive a confirmation email with further details.